2) To satisfy diversified professional training requirements, each applicant must acquire a minimum number of training units (TU's) based on the education requirements set forth in subsection (b)(3) below. One TU equals eight hours of acceptable activity. Acceptable activities and conditions affecting training are set forth in the IDP Guidelines.

SUBPART L: BUSINESS INCOME OF PERSONS OTHER THAN RESIDENTS

Section 100.3420 Apportionment of Business Income of Insurance Companies (IITA Section 304(b))

- a) In General. Except as otherwise provided in this Section, business income of an insurance company for a taxable year shall be apportioned to this State by multiplying such income by a fraction, the numerator of which is the direct premiums written for insurance upon property or risk in this State, and the denominator of which is the direct premiums written for insurance upon property or risk everywhere. (IITA Section 304(b)(1))
- b) Insurance Company. For purposes of the IITA, an "insurance company" means:

- 1) any taxpayer treated as an insurance company for purposes of federal income taxation under Subchapter L of the Internal Revenue Code, IRC Section 801 through IRC Section 848 (see IITA Section 102); or
- 2) a domestic captive insurance company required to be taxed as an insurance company under Section 123C-16 of the Illinois Insurance Code [215 ILCS 5/123C-16].

No other taxpayer may be treated as an insurance company for purposes of the IITA.

- c) Direct Premiums Written. "Direct premiums written" means the total amount of direct premiums written, assessments and annuity considerations as reported for the taxable year on the annual statement filed by the company with the Illinois Director of Insurance in the form approved by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners or such other form as may be prescribed in lieu thereof. (IITA Section 304(b)(1))

- 1) Only receipts that are included in federal taxable income of the taxpayer, and that are not subtracted in the computation of base income under a provision of Section 203 of the IITA, may be included in the apportionment factor. (See Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago v. Lenckos, 102 Ill.2d 210 (1984).)

- 2) Only direct premiums written for insurance, assessments against mutual and consideration for annuity contracts that include elements of insurance are included in the apportionment factor. Other receipts are excluded from the apportionment factor, even if included in net income. Examples of receipts that are excluded from the apportionment factor include:

A) Interest, dividends, and other income from investments.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE

NOTICE OF PROPOSED AMENDMENTS

- B) Gains or losses from the adjustment of reserves, salvage or subrogation.
- C) Deposit-type contracts that do not contain insurance risk. Thus, payment received for a contract that calls for payment of $1,000 per month for the life of the beneficiary is an "annuity consideration" because the contract includes an insurance risk, i.e., the expected life of the beneficiary. In contrast, a contract to pay $1,000 per month for 10 years (often referred to as an "annuity certain") contains no element of insurance risk, and payment received for such contract is not included in the apportionment factor.
- 3) premiums rebated or repaid to policyholders and reported as negative amounts on the annual statement are treated as negative amounts in the computation of the apportionment factor. However, neither the numerator nor the denominator of the apportionment factor may be reduced below zero.
- d) Reinsurance. If the principal source of premiums written by an insurance company consists of premiums for reinsurance accepted by it, the business income of such company shall be apportioned to this State by multiplying such income by a fraction, the numerator of which is the sum of direct premiums written for insurance upon property or risk in this State, plus premiums written for reinsurance accepted in respect of property or risk in this State, and the denominator of which is the sum of direct premiums written for insurance upon property or risk everywhere, plus premiums written for reinsurance accepted in respect of property or risk everywhere. (IIITA Section 304(b)(2))
- 1) Unlike the provision for other insurance companies, the apportionment formula for reinsurance companies does not include "assessments" or "annuity considerations". Only premiums written for direct insurance and for reinsurance are considered in the apportionment factor.
- 2) Property or risk in this State. An insurance company may determine the amount of premiums written for reinsurance accepted in respect of property or risk in this State by consideration of each premium written, or such determination may, at the election of the company, be determined on the basis of:
- A) the proportion which premiums written for reinsurance accepted from companies commercially domiciled in Illinois bears to premiums written for reinsurance accepted from all sources, or
- B) the proportion which the sum of the direct premiums written for insurance upon property or risk in this State by each ceding company from which reinsurance is accepted bears to the sum of the total direct premiums written by each such ceding company for the taxable year. (IIITA Section 304(b)(2))
- The election to determine the portion of reinsurance premiums accepted in respect of property or risk in this State for a particular tax year by consideration of each premium written or by either of these alternative methods may be made or changed at any time.

SUBPART A: GENERAL PROVISIONS

Section 190.5 Credit Union Service Organizations

a) The provisions of this Section apply to credit credit unions investing in or lending which choose to invest in or tend to or delegate managerial duties and responsibilities to a Credit Union Service Organization (CUSO), which is a credit union organization as defined in Section 1.1 of the Illinois Credit Union Act [205 ILCS 305/1.1]. {Ill. Reg. Stat. 1987, ch. 17, par. 4402} must apply to the Department for approval prior to any involvement with the particular CUSO. The letter of application to the Department must contain the following information:

b) Prior to the initial investment in or loan to a CUSO, the records of the credit union shall contain the following information:

- 1) The name and location of the CUSO.
- 2) Services provided by the CUSO.
- 3) The names of the officers, employees and agents of the CUSO and their relationship to the credit union and the credit union's directors, officers, staff and members.

4) The form of organization under which the CUSO operates, including but not limited to -- corporation, limited partnership, general partnership, sole proprietorship or joint venture, limited liability company, or limited partnership.

5) A copy of any proposed contract or agreement between the credit union and the CUSO. The written service agreement between the credit union and the CUSO must contain a clause which states the CUSO will:

A) Provide the Department with complete access to any books and records of the CUSO, with the costs of examining these records borne by the credit union served in accordance with the per diem rate set out in Section 17 of the Act (Ill. Reg. Stat. 1987, ch. 17, par. 4413);

B) Follow Generally Accepted Accounting Principles as outlined by the Financial Accounting Standards Board (High Ridge Park, Stamford, Connecticut 06905, June 17, 1981. This incorporation by reference does not include any later amendments);

C) Provide the credit union with the financial statements of the CUSO on at least a quarterly basis and Certified Public Accountant (CPA) audited financial statements on an annual basis;

56) The most recent financial statements of the credit union and the CUSO.

67) The customer base served by the CUSO who the CUSO now serves.

78) The credit union's investments in or loans to other CUSOs.

89) The credit union's indebtedness to any other credit unions, corporations, financial institutions, credit union organizations, or other organizations.

c) A credit union and a CUSO must be operated in a manner that demonstrates to the public the separate corporate existence of the credit union and the CUSO.

1) Good business practices dictate that each must operate so that:

A) Its respective business transactions, accounts, and records are not intermingled;

B) Each observes the formalities of its separate corporate procedures;

C) Each is adequately financed as a separate unit in the light of normal obligations reasonably foreseeable in a business of its size and character;

D) Each is held out to the public as a separate enterprise;

E) The credit union does not dominate the CUSO to the extent that the CUSO is treated as a department of the credit union; and

F) Unless the credit union has guaranteed a loan obtained by the CUSO, all borrowings by the CUSO indicate that the credit union is not liable.

DEPARTMENT OF FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS

- 2) Prior to a credit union investing in or making a loan to a CUSO, the credit union must obtain a written legal opinion as to whether the CUSO is established in a manner that will limit potential exposure of the credit union to no more than the loss of funds invested in, or loaned to, the CUSO. In addition, if a CUSO in which a credit union has made an investment or loan plans to change its form of organization under subsection (b)(4) of this Section, the credit union must obtain a prior written legal opinion that the CUSO will remain established in a manner that will limit potential exposure of the credit union to no more than the loss of funds invested in, or loaned to, the CUSO. The legal opinion must address factors that have led courts to "pierce the corporate veil", such as inadequate capitalization, lack of separate corporate identity, common boards of directors and employees, control of one entity over another, and lack of separate books and records. The legal opinion may be provided by independent legal counsel of the credit union.

i)f) Allowance Reserve for Loan Losses (R557) for Business Loans-

- 1) Allowance Reserve for Loan Losses (R557) for Business Loans will be determined and accounted for by the credit union according to Section 190.70 as follows:

- A) Substandard Loans - A substandard loan is one that is inadequately protected by the current sound worth and paying capacity of the obligor or of the collateral pledged. Loans classified substandard have a well-defined weakness or weaknesses that jeopardize the liquidation of the debt. They are characterized by the distinct possibility that the credit union will sustain some loss if the deficiencies are not corrected. Loans listed in this category shall generally be listed in a range from zero to under 50% potential loss.

- B) Doubtful Loans - A loan classified doubtful has all the weaknesses inherent in a loan classified substandard, with the added characteristic that the weaknesses make collection or liquidation in full, on the basis of currently existing facts, conditions, and values, highly questionable and improbable. The possibility of loss is extremely high, but because of certain important and reasonable specific pending factors that may work to the advantage and strengthening of the loan, its classification as an estimated loss is deferred until a more exact status may be determined. Pending factors include: proposed merger, acquisition, or liquidation actions; capital injection; perfecting liens on collateral; and refinancing plans. Loans in this category shall be listed at a minimum 50% potential loss.

- C) Loss Loans - Loans classified loss are considered uncollectible and of such little value that their continuance as loans on the credit union balance sheet is not warranted. This classification does not necessarily mean that the loan has absolutely no recovery or salvage value, but rather, it is not practical or desirable to defer writing off the asset even though partial recovery may occur in the future. Loans in this category shall be listed at 100% potential loss.

- D) Loans may be excluded from the "loss loans" category and classified as either substandard or doubtful if there is evidence of collectibility. Evidence of collectibility shall include without limitation the following collection activities and remedies:

- i) Execution and filing of an enforceable reaffirmation agreement on the loan in a Chapter 7 bankruptcy (11 USC 701 et seq.) proceeding prior to completion of the Department's loan analysis in any statutory examination of the credit union.

- ii) Receipt of payments on the loan in a Chapter 13 bankruptcy (11 USC 1301 et seq.) within 180 days after the confirmation of the plan; or, if the plan stipulates repayment of the loan in full but payments have not yet been disbursed to the credit union, the credit union has determined from the Trustee that plan payments are being made on a timely basis to the Trustee.

- iii) Receipt of payments on the loan in a Chapter 11 bankruptcy reorganization (11 USC 1101 et seq.) or Chapter 12 bankruptcy family farm reorganization (11 USC 1201 et seq.) within 180 days after the confirmation of the plan.

- iv) Voluntary repayment of the loan pursuant to Section 524(f) of the federal Bankruptcy Code (11 USC 524(f)).

- v) Collection of the loan pursuant to repossession of collateral without judicial process, or by replevin, detinue, forcible entry and detainer or mortgage foreclosure proceedings.

- vi) Collection of the loan pursuant to post-judgment enforcement remedies, including wage deduction, garnishment and turnover orders entered in citation to discover assets supplementary proceedings.
- vii) The entry of a judgment pay plan order providing for repayment of the loan in a judicial proceeding.
- viii) Documented evidence of repayment of that portion of the loan covered by collateral protection or other insurance policies.

- ix) Documentation evidence of periodic payments on a consistent basis in an amount sufficient to retire the loan balance in a reasonable time.

Delinquent-Loans	Classification	% of Outstanding Balance
		Required	in-Rbb
2-to-5-months	--Slow	-----10%
6-to-11-months	--Doubtful	-----50%
12-months-and-over	--Loss	-----100%

- 2) Non-delinquent loans may also be classified in the above categories by the Department, dependent upon an evaluation of factors, including, but not necessarily limited to, the adequacy of the credit union's analysis and documentation of the loan application, and the credit union's collateral requirements. Subsection (c)(2) above contains analysis and documentation requirements.

i) Credit unions authorized to make business loans may make member business loans to its directors, officers, credit committee members and supervisory committee members provided that the loan complies with all lawful requirements as set forth in this Section and in Section 52 of the Illinois Credit Union Act and is not on terms more favorable than those extended to other borrowers.

k) Credit unions authorized to make business loans shall not grant member business loans if the amount of income desired/received by the credit union is tied to the profit of the business in the form of an equity participation.

l) Credit unions are prohibited from making business loans where the payment amount fluctuates with the earnings of the business/borrower.

Those households that are not billed for air conditioning or heating but are billed for electricity must use the electricity standard allowance of $151. Households living in rental housing who are billed on a regular basis by a landlord for costs for air conditioning, heating, or electricity must use the appropriate standard. If the air conditioning/heating standard allowance or the electricity standard allowance is used, then no other utility costs may be claimed. If actual utility costs are allowed because the household does not qualify for either standard, then actual, verified costs may be claimed, except that if a separately-billed phone expense is claimed only the basic telephone allowance of $27 per month is allowed.

4) A household that is billed less often than monthly for its costs for heating, air conditioning, or electricity must continue to use the air conditioning/heating standard allowance or the electricity standard allowance, whichever is appropriate, between billing months.

5) Households in public housing or privately owned rental units that receive a bill for over-usage are not entitled to use the air conditioning/heating standard allowance or the electricity standard allowance. When households (as defined at 7 CFR 273.1(a) (2000)) live together, the air conditioning/heating standard allowance or the electricity standard allowance, whichever is appropriate, shall be divided equally among the households that contribute toward the utility costs whether or not each household participates in the program.

6) Households whose expense for heat or electricity, or both, is covered by indirect energy assistance payments under the Illinois Home Energy Assistance Program (47 Ill. Adm. Code 100) shall be entitled to the air conditioning/heating standard allowance or the electricity standard allowance, whichever is appropriate (7 CFR 273.9 and 273.10(d)(6) (2000)). The provisions of subsection (f)(3) of this Section are applicable to households whose expenses for heating or electricity, or both, are covered by indirect energy assistance payments.

7) When the household claims a utility expense for an unoccupied home (as defined in Section 121.63(f)(4)), actual utility expenses are allowed for the unoccupied home as well as the current residence. The air conditioning/heating standard or the electricity standard is not used for either home. The appropriate utility standard may be used if the household chooses not to claim utilities for the unoccupied home.

h) Excess Medical Deduction. A deduction for excess medical expenses shall be allowed for households which contain an elderly or disabled member as defined at 7 CFR 271.2 (2000) and Section 121.61. The medical expenses incurred by the qualifying household member which are over $35 will be deducted, if the expenses will not be reimbursed by
